Standing in the cold beside the small, empty fire pit at the camp, it is hard to imagine that anyone could live under these conditions. The muddy ground is partially covered by old discarded rugs, making a path to the seating of a broken office chair and a large log, long stripped of its limbs and bark. The kitchen is a single pot, the sleeping quarters marked by tarps draped to form a tent.

Thus is the scene at a homeless camp here in Greensboro and “home” to a man who happened to be homeless. He weathered the rain, the cold, and the snow without complaint, but thanks to the help of volunteer Randy Judd, he no longer has to endure the elements. Now, he has a home.

Randy Judd began working with the homeless just 10 months ago and was moved by the individuals he met. He began befriending those who are so often ignored and disregarded, convinced that he could make a difference in their lives and improve their living conditions.

Randy Judd began working with the homeless just 10 months ago and was moved by the individuals he met. He began befriending those who are so often ignored and disregarded, convinced that he could make a difference in their lives and improve their living conditions.

On this day, Randy visits the former camp of Don Ames before checking in on him at his new home. Don, an ex-machinist from Michigan, came to the south hoping to find work in the furniture industry when he lost his job in 2008. With no money and no job, Don found himself homeless, but not helpless.

A talented woodworker, Don set up a workshop at his camp, complete with solar power. There he fashioned wooden crosses and ornaments out of wood. Hearing about this amazing set-up, Randy asked to see Don’s camp and was struck by the intelligence and ingenuity Don displayed. As Randy said, “It didn’t make sense that Don was homeless. I just couldn’t understand it.”

By utilizing his personal connections and helping Don sell his woodwork, Randy facilitated Don’s move from the camp to a house – complete with a basement workshop! Now Don plans to help other homeless artisans transition off the streets and find careers that utilize their talents. And Randy? He met two more men when visiting the camp today and is off to find firewood for them.

Wayne’s Story
POTTER’S HOUSE
FOOD BANK

A five year employee of Greensboro Urban Ministry, Wayne Darrell Campbell understands our clients better than most because he once was one himself. He returned home at the age of eighteen. To support her addiction, she turned to prostitution and drug trafficking, doing “whatever it took” to obtain drugs and feed herself. For over twenty years, Wayne lived a lifestyle that she admitted made her unhappy and that she disliked.

Throughout those dark years, Wayne says that Greensboro Urban Ministry remained a “big encouragement in my life when I didn’t have anywhere to go.” She was a resident of Weaver House and then moved to Pathways when she found out she was pregnant with her daughter. After the birth, she received clothing from the clothing bank and the moral support that she needed from the dedicated staff in the Emergency Assistance Program. With every visit, she says that concerned staff would encourage her to quit using and to turn her life around. And, eventually, this persistence paid off.

At the age of 41, she stopped abusing cocaine, returned home, and was married for the first time. She says that she is focused on seeing her grandchildren grow up and on obtaining her own GED. She still returns to Urban Ministry, which she says “feels like home,” for fellowship with those who never lost hope that she would be able to change her story, that she could quit using, and that she could turn her life around.

Potter’s House Community Kitchen
Serves a free, well-balanced, nutritious meal each day
51,655 breakfasts served
151,468 lunches served
44,286 dinners served
247,409 total meals served

Greensboro Food Bank
Food is collected and distributed to Urban Ministry’s feeding programs and other non-profits that serve the hungry
1,125,958 pounds of food donated from grocery stores, food handlers, restaurants, caterers, food drives, farmers’ markets, congregations and individuals
13,951 food bags given to Emergency Assistance Program serving 22,250 people

Now, Wayne ministers to others in need by serving as the Potter’s House Chef Supervisor, cooking for the hungry and witnessing to others through his actions.

All stories are true as related by Greensboro Urban Ministry clients.
